

My teacher/ teaching assistant will take me to the medical room.

I will meet the orthoptist.
The orthoptist is a person who looks at how my eyes move.

During the test I will have to wear some glasses, with one eye covered, or a patch over my glasses if I already have a pair. Then we can tell how well each eye can see.

I will be asked to look at some toys.
This is to see if my eyes work together.

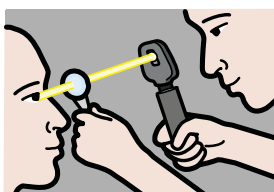

I might have some drops put in my eyes.
They may feel a bit tingly and will make things look fuzzy and brighter.

I will need to wait for the drops to work
in my classroom.

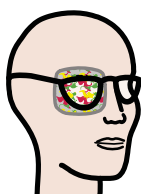

I will meet an optometrist.
An optometrist is a person who tests to see if I need glasses and checks that my eyes are healthy.

I have to look at a bright torch.
The room will be dark.

My eyes might be OK.

I might need to wear glasses
and/or a patch.

I may come back to see the orthoptist.

I can then say goodbye and go back to my classroom.
